BICENTENNIAL COMMITTEE PLANNING EVENTFUL JULY FOURTH WEEK END

The week end of July 2, 3, and 4 in Bethel will be filled with all sorts of events, from Skateboard competitions to a Contra Dance. The Bicentennial Committee is in hopes that a festive atmosphere will be experienced by all, and is encouraging the merchants in town to decorate their places of business in a manner befitting the celebration of our nation's 200th birthday. In addition, homeowners should plan to display the flag.

Another aspect of the Bicentennial Celebration in Bethel will be the compilation of a Bicentennial Register which will be sealed in the 1976 Time Capsule, along with photographs, memorabilia, and the results of the Children's Time Capsule contest from last spring. The Register is a leatherbound volume which will be at the week end Headquarters for the Fourth of July Weekend. Individuals will be invited to sign their name and a brief message in the Register, in return for a 25 cent donation to the Bicentennial Committee to defray celebration expenses.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

During the past week, the Sewall Company has held hearings on the new property valuations. Following these hearings, the Sewall Company has reviewed the questions and concerns expressed by property owners. A number of changes have been made as a result of the hearings and notices of these changes will be mailed out from the Town Office within the next week to 10 days. Following completion of work by the Sewall Company, the Board of Assessors will be reviewing the materials submitted and will set up times when property owners can come in and talk with them.

As most people are aware, Bethel's present open burning dump violates the State open burning law and it is located within 300 feet of the river which also violates state law. The town is under orders from the State Department of Environmental Protection to cease these violations and develop an alternative method of solid waste disposal. As at this time, sanitary landfill is the only financially feasible alternative, the town is working with the Androscoggin Valley Regional Planning Commission in developing a sanitary landfill area within the same parcel of land on which our dump is now located. They have assisted us in making soil tests on the site and they are presently developing a design plan upon which cost estimates for construction and operating the facility can be based. Following the development of plans and cost estimates, a proposed course of action will be presented to town meeting. We feel that this solution will be the least costly approach for the town to take.

In meetings next week, the Board of Selectmen will meet Monday, June 14th, at 7 p. m., and the Planning Board will meet Wednesday, June 16, at 7:30 p. m. Both meetings will be held in the Town Office.

LIONS CLUB ANNOUNCES PROGRAM OF ACTIVITIES FOR MOLLYOCKETT DAY

The Bethel Lions Club has announced that the program for Mollyockett Day, July 17, 1976 is coming along fine. The committee which had been formed many months ago has met several times and is consolidating some of the activities into a program which will have something for everyone.

The Mollyockett Day parade should be bigger and better than any previous years. Charles Farrar and Maurice Bouchard are getting all entries into the parade lined up. The theme will be "1776-1976". Anyone interested in participating in the parade should contact these two individuals. Once again, prizes will be awarded to those entries which best meet the theme. Definitely one of the highlights of the parade will be the "Manchester Muchachos" Drum and Bugle Corp.

Another event held during Mollyockett Day will be a bicycle race in the Town of Bethel. This event was highly entertaining for participants and spectators last year and hopefully will be again this year.

One of the highlights of the day will be the Maine Open Woodmen's Championship, which is the only competition of its kind in the State of Maine, sponsored by the Northeast Professional Lumberjack Association. This event will be held during the afternoon and will attract professional competition from all over the States.

One again there will be various booths on the Common. The Lions Club asks all those interested in having a booth to please contact John Rayne. This year there will be a limited number of spaces available for commercial exhibits. Those wishing to set in this type of booth must also contact John Rayne.

This year, one of the means of supporting Mollyockett Day and the various community and goodwill projects of the Bethel Lions Club, will be an advertising and program booklet which will be distributed throughout the town of Bethel and surrounding communities. Those wishing to advertise in this booklet and also show support for the Lions Club and Mollyockett Day can contact any Lions Club member. At the same time, members of the Bethel Lions Club will be contacting all business establishments and individuals asking for support.

Let's make Mollyockett Day, July 17, 1976 the biggest happening in Bethel this year. The committee continues to come up with additional events such as an All Star baseball game and many others. Let's all chip in.

The Assessors have completed the taxes and committed them to Mrs. Mary E. Tripp for collection. The rate was set at 22 mills on an assessed valuation of $2,547,110. for real and personal property, with the state fixed rate of .02375 on an assessed value of $33,950. In inventories (livestock, stock in trade etc.) for a total commitment of $56,842.73, compared to $51,909.24 for 1975. Since State Law provides that all municipalities must have an assessment ratio of at least 70% by 1979, the assessors made an over-all increase of 50% in valuations, after necessary adjustments, to increase the ratio. This will not affect individual taxes, since it resulted in a lower tax rate. However, due to an additional loss of valuation under the Tree Growth Tax Law this year of $39,280., and an increase of approximately 18% in the school budget, there will be an increase in taxes. Broken down the valuation for 1976 is Real Estate $2,422,050. with $725,030. resident and $1,697,020. non-resident; personal property $128,060., non-resident, $117,110 and resident, $7,950; inventories, resident, $17,450., and non resident, $16,500., for a total of $33,950. This year Veterans and their widows, entitled to exemption will be exempt $4,000. In assessed valuation, adjusted to the assessment ratio, instead of a flat $3,500. exemption. With a 100% assessment ration the exemption would be increased from the former $3,500. to $4,000. but with a 60% ratio it would decrease to $2,400.

The first of a series of Three Point meetings with Bear River, Franklin Grange, Bryant Pond; Kezar Lake, North Lovell, will be held at Bear River Grange, June 26, not June 2, as reported last week.

Greenwood City —

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

The night had sprinkled the dawn with dew. The birds sang cheerfully, a festive spirit had spread over all, and breezes caressed the grasses. Dawn is the time to observe the manifold beauties and perceive the miracles.

"The dawn,
A morning dew
Deposed the moon that shone
Across the cobalt, star shot sky
Made day."

Helen White Dannafield

We have had a few of those days of which Lowell had in mind when he wrote "What is so rare as a day in June." How the pond sparkled, how the new leaves shone under the sun!

So it was, one day when I took Mosquito Lane just to see the violets. Perhaps it's one of the best loved early flowers. Its color is bright and fair so shouldn't be hiding there within the silent shade. All along the lane these modest violets grew and hung their pretty heads as if trying to hide from my view.

The singing of the birds as well as the singing of the mosquitoes accompanied me along the way and the lushness of the June sunshine lay over the fields.

From near the first cellar hole I looked down to see the myrtle warblers fluttering amid the filmy green foliage of the poplars. A flicker loped past while, again, I could hear the sapsucker pounding away on a tin near my home. He has visited it many times during the week. He pounds then listens, then repeats. He, after a while, changes to the transformer on the electric light pole, enjoying his echo.

Turning to cross the side of the hill there was a flower tapestry on either hand. Such a wild flower garden! Hepaticas, bloodroots, starflowers, rue and wood anemones, to name a few. Just to name them over brings to mind the sight and smell of this woodland garden among the trees. Sunshine filled all the valley and I walked leisurely almost alone in the rarefied air of the woods. The gift of natural beauty is a precious possession. People should enjoy it freely now and in the future, for it is one of the inalienable rights of all Americans. It is well sometimes to see such things of beauty as the rainbow, cumulus clouds, and butterflies as a child without thought to explanation.

"Go out, go out I beg of you,
And taste the beauty of the wild
Behold the miracle of the earth
With the wonder of a child."

Edna Jacques

Too often we overlook the familiar in our reach for a far star. Reach, but pause sometimes to enjoy the beauty near at hand.

As time advanced, I heard cars drifting away while I roamed over boulder strewn hillsides and familiar trails. These dappled paths wind their secret ways. The fronded filigree of ferns are exquisite beyond belief. I crossed the hill where I followed the snowmobile trails so often last winter. How different the distant mountains now as they stand, still on guard, wearing green instead of white and watching the panorama at their feet.

So with summer just beginning, I made my way down the hillside and reached home hoping that there will be more golden afternoons and sunny days of June.

LOCAL CRAFTSPEOPLE INVOLVED WITH CRAFTS SHOWCASE IN PORTLAND

One of the exciting displays at the Direction in Maine Living show in Maine Savings Plaza in Portland is a kitchen sink made by Nancy Lee of Auburn. The tiles which form the counter and wall behind the sink are by Bonnema Potters of Bethel. Garret and Melody Bonnema had their own studio in Bristol, Pa., prior to moving to Bethel where they now operate a pottery studio. Their show room is open daily at their home on Main Street.

Another craftperson in the show from Rumford Point is Marjorie Moore. Ms. Moore is the creator of many wonderful and imaginative objects from Grace, a lifesize doll who sits in the living room to "The Boxed Forest Dream" a shadow box in the hall way.

The show is representing the work of over 135 Maine craftpeople. The work is displayed in room settings. The show will continue through June 26. Hours are 10 to 6 Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Thursdays noon till 9. Mondays closed.

The Bonnema's work is featured in photos and text of the June-July issue of "Update", an arts in Maine newsletter published by the Maine State Commission on the Arts and Humanities.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY VIEWS FILM ON ERASTUS SALISBURY FIELD

A program on American art was featured at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held on Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. The portraits of Dr. and Mrs. Mason, recently returned from a thorough cleaning and restoration by an art conservator, were on display. Slides were shown of the several stages in the restoration process.

Following this presentation a discussion of American folk art was undertaken and a film "New England Folk Painter — Erastus Salisbury Field" shown. The American folk artist has been at work painting the American scene almost since the founding of the colonies beginning with the Puritans. But it was in the nineteenth century that he enjoyed his greatest success. The untutored and self-trained painter, who might have served his apprenticeship decorating carriages or painting houses or signs, soon discovered that customers waited for him and his skillful hand in many of the small towns and county districts of America. For approximately 50 glorious years beginning in 1800, the primitive artist in America painted the faces and the look of the American scene in oil, watercolor, pencil, crayon, pen-and-ink on paper, silk, bedticking, canvas, barrel tops, cardboard on floors, fireboards, signs, houses, and merry-go-rounds.

By the middle of the nineteenth century, mass production methods and the growing use of the newly-invented daguerreotype affected all branches of the arts, and folk art as an expression of the life and taste of the common man fell into slow decline.

However, as artistic sensitivity grew and as more and more Americans sought to discover the character of their past, folk art once more captured the attention of serious collectors and a large public.

Erastus Salisbury Field (1805-1900) is in many ways the typical nineteenth-century American folk artist. His life and working career nearly span the century. Working first as an itinerant portrait painter he created an American royalty with farm kings and housewife queens primarily in the towns and villages of western Massachusetts. With the invention of the daguerreotype, photographs replaced portraits, and his vocation as an artist was taken from him.

However, he learned to use the new mechanical marvel during a 10-year sojourn in New York City, at mid-century and painted portraits from photographs rather than from life. As a result these have a decided lifeless quality when compared to his earlier works.

About 1850, Field returned to his native Connecticut Valley where he earned a bare existence as an artist to support himself and his only daughter. The passion to paint continued throughout his life and about this time he turned to religious and patriotic subjects.

The climax of his long career was the extraordinary "Monument of the American Republic"—approximately 13 feet wide and 10 feet high—painted to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Independence.

CUB SCOUT FIELD DAY AND ROUND-UP TIME, SAT., JUNE 12

On Saturday, June 12, Cubs from five Packs in the Snowshoe District will assemble on the Gould Academy Athletic Field for a day of games, contests, parade and fun. This will be a rain or shine event and if the weather is not good the events will be held in the Field House.

The activities start at 10:30 a. m. with all the Packs lining up for a parade with their Pack, Den and American flags. After the parade there will be opening ceremonies at 11 a. m.

After this the many varied and fun-filled events will take place. These include a stilt race relay, a Pack tug-o-war, an obstacle race, sack race, three-legged race, weight throwing contest, a Pack race, leap frog race and finally a chariot race.

Following the events will be the awarding of prizes. In addition there will be a handsome patch available to all who participate. All Bethel Cubs and their families are cordially invited to attend and participate or watch the fun and games. Each person should provide his or her own box lunch. Soda, potato and corn chips, ice cream bars and popsicles will be on sale on the field.

This is the first of Pack 566's summertime activities. The second will be held July 24-25 at Camp Bomazeen. All who attend this exciting overnight must bring their completed medical forms to the Field Day on the 12th and give them to Cubmaster Al Barth. If you did not pick up a form at the last Pack meeting they will be available at the Field Day.

Remember Cubs who attend all three summertime activities will receive a gold pin and each Den whose attendance at each of the three activities is 50% or better will receive a special Den ribbon.

The June 12 Field Day will be a good opportunity for prospective Cubs and their parents to look over the Bethel Cub Program, to meet leaders and other Cubs and to get information about Scouting so they will be in a better position to join in the fall.

Cubs are also reminded that tomorrow afternoon is the last chance to have Steve Wight, 824-2410, pick up your aluminum cans to be recycled and to insure that you are eligible for the prize for collecting the most cans.

BICENTENNIAL WEEK AT WOODSTOCK SCHOOL

an Whitman, Christine Davis, David Cox, Jeri Martin, Judy Walker, Lisa Cotton, Tammy Wilson, Joyce Walen, Clayton Howe; in charge of curtains were Michael Gendrolis, Robert Evans, and Vincent Palmer.

Mrs. Linda Vedella, vocal music instructor, led the assembly of students, Wednesday in singing songs of folk style and patriotic themes. Students of Grade 3 then presented "Famous Men of the Bicentennial" with pictures of their own making. Looking back to how early Americans found recreation, boys and girls experimented with "Square Dancing".

Thursday afternoon, the gymnasium became a fascinating museum of exhibits old and new, reminding all who came that this Bicentennial Week was indeed a learning experience which had given the students a chance to explore with their teachers how earlier people did household and farm chores. Exhibits on this line included dried apples, rug braiding, quilting, hand-sewn holders, and many early utensils and family keepsakes.

A display of "family trees" was done by Grade 4; diaramas and standing figures depicting an event in history, were shown by Grade 3. Grade 2 made pictures of early American toys, while Grade 1 featured a "Freedom Train". A diversity of projects and collections were shown by Grades 5 and 6. Darrell Dyke had an outstanding personal collection which he has been gathering during the year — a Lewiston Evening Journal of 1890 carrying the story of Sitting Bull's death contrasted with place mats of famous historical paintings from a well-known fast food chain.

Mrs. Karen Paul, Mrs. Faye Corrin, and Mrs. Audrey Taylor stopped many visitors with their demonstrations of spinning; pottery making; weaving and rug-hooking, respectively. Boys and girls had a chance to experiment with these traditional crafts.

Friday morning interest was high as boys and girls were seen tripping off to school in a variety of long skirts, knickers, tricorn hats, etc. Marching to the beat of the Telstar Band led by James Brown, Michael Otero-Otero, dressed as a militia man, headed a procession of students in their costumes, making several turns around the school grounds. As the parade ended, they formed a circle near the flag pole where Mr. Farrington and Principal James Johnston lowered the old American and Maine flags as the band played "It's a Grand Old Flag". A pair of new flags earned and presented to Mr. Farrington by Grades 5 and 6 were raised while the National anthem was played. In a brief dedicatory speech Mr. Johnston expressed the sentiments of appreciation shared by students, staff and townspeople to Mr. Farrington who concludes 30 years of service this year, and will retire during the summer.

More plays were shown during the day, with Mr. Libby's home room presenting immediately following the flag-raising. Two shows by Miss Dunbar's home room of the play, "The Little Old Schoolhouse," written by Renee Coffin attracted capacity audiences. In this play Debra Farrington was schoolmarm. A food sale which kept mouths watering all day with good sights and smells brought the week's events to a close during the last hour of the day.

The project was judged to have been successful with fine cooperation from students, families, staff and others.

Upton

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —

Mary Beth of T. V. had just finished a report of fine weather currently and on through most of the week end when we had a cloudburst. This quickly changed to hail which bounced on the road and covered the ground with marble sized stones. Some men returning over East B Hill road said there was an inch of ice on the road and they found it slippery traveling.

Several from Upton attended one or more of the services in Calvary Church, Andover, where Rev. John DeBrine of Songtime was guest pastor.

Local voting was held in the former school house with Laura Roberts and Arline Bernier serving as ballot clerks. About half the voters exercised their privilege.

Rosemary Goodrum has a new dog to replace the German shepherd which she used to have.

Mr. Orff, property assessment analyst was in town Tuesday to advise local assessors and check the books and work they have done.

Mr. and Mrs. David of Florida and Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Charron are in town for awhile.

Wilderness 4-H Club — At 4-H we made little cannisters. We took a jar, then a piece of paper, traced a flower on it, cut the flower out, then put it on a piece of cloth, then painted in with Artex paints. We took some glue and stuck the flower on the jar. You can stick anything in the jars, like tea or coffee. — Reporter, Norma Aron.

FLAG DAY — JUNE 14

I AM YOUR HERITAGE — I AM YOUR FLAG!

by Frederick L. Spaulding, Captain, IN, USAR

I was born on July 4th, 1776, conceived from the hopes and dreams of the people of this young country. As the Nation grew, I too did grow. As I look back on the events of the past 200 years, I recall with pride the determination of your forefathers to make this country a free and independent nation.

Lexington . . . Concord . . . Bunker Hill . . . Valley Forge . . . Yes, they are all just names now, but then they were a message; a message to the world that this young nation had fought for and gained its independence.

In 1812 this independence was threatened. At Fort McHenry, as I flew above the ramparts, I became a symbol; a symbol to all that as long as I reign, unfurling my colors to each passing wind, this nation will exist as a bastion of freedom for all who abide here.

When this country became a house divided, it hurt me deeply. During that long and regretful Civil War, I wept. I wept for the dead, for the living, and for the devastation of my beautiful country. At the close of that ugly war, my people once again united, bound the nation's wounds, and started this country on its way to becoming the greatest nation on earth.

Since that time I have watched the country struggle through wars, depressions and scandals. I have been sung to and praised, and with each stanza I grew nobler. I have been spat upon and burned, but, after each incident, I grew stronger and more exalted than before.

Today, I watch over this magnificent land of ours with great pride, protecting it as it has protected me. I am the symbol of you, I am the symbol of this nation. I fly throughout the world, representing you and what you stand for. As I exist, so shall you. I am your heritage; I am your flag. — (from THE ADVANCE, May, 1976).
